HUMAN -Digital Hate Interrupter Activism to combat structural racism promoting inter-community cooperation through digital technologies

The 24-month HUMAN project aims to contribute to the elimination of hate speech against diaspora communities, the fight against discrimination and intolerance, especially on the grounds of racial or national origin, color and religion, as well as racism and xenophobia by focusing on activism actions using digital technologies.

HUMAN project includes a series of activities such as:

- a) the development of a Manual for Digital Hate Interrupter Activism tackling hate speech, racism and intolerance against minority groups,
- b) transnational mutual learning and knowledge exchange for promoters of social change through activism,
- c) the implementation of country tailored learning activities for digital hate interrupter activism,
- d) national and international awareness raising on digital hate interrupter activism to combat xenophobia and intolerance against minorities.

The HUMAN project (GA 101144478) is co-financed by the Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values programme of the European Union (CERV 2021-2027).
