TURNING PROJECT IDEAS INTO PRACTICAL RESULTS

During the last period, the project partnership focused on actively implementing project ideas and turning them into tangible results, such as providing supportive and inspiring resources for Ukrainian women and the people who work with them. These include an introduction explaining the value of taking part in the Motivation Workshop on innovative solutions in the Cultural and Creative Sectors (CCS), a Partnership Guide to help develop engaging learning materials, an e-Collection of Good Practices showcasing Ukrainian women's initiatives in partner countries and an e-Directory featuring Ukrainian women's media-based success stories of self-employment in the CCS.

And there's more! We have already created learning materials for the e-Studio "Women's self-employment in CCS-how to be successful" and are looking forward to publishing them online!

INVOLVING THE ASSOCIATED PARTNERS & WIDER NETWORK SUPPORT

The GoForward project includes a diverse group of associated partners which present diverse stakeholders of the project - including community organisations, education institutions, business support centres, employment services and many more - who contribute practical insights, evaluate created results, help with dissemination and provide additional networks that enhance project impact and outreach.

Their involvement enriches the development of learning resources and tailored support tools for labour market and social integration of Ukrainian women.

Building on the initial planning and input from stakeholders, partners are now intensifying their work on materials for Ukrainian Women's Day, which will serve as a social support mechanism to promote the social inclusion of Ukrainian women in the labour market and wider society.

Ukrainian Women's Day will be presented during two workshops with different target audiences, bringing together women with local business and community representatives to discuss business ideas and find matching ventures.

CURRENT ACTIVITIES IN DEVELOPMENT

Stay tuned for upcoming updates and stories from partners and stakeholders in Newsletter #3!

WHAT'S NEXT

In the coming months, the project will finalise the online learning platform for Ukrainian women, 'Women's self-employment in CCS: How to be successful', in six languages.

It will also develop an e-toolkit for facilitators of the educational and social model 'Successful Ukrainian women in CCS' and organise pilot training sessions for Ukrainian women in Lithuania, Cyprus and Romania. These ideas will be tested in practice while continuing to listen closely to the voices of Ukrainian women and those supporting them.

The project aims to create meaningful opportunities, inspiration and practical support within the cultural and creative sectors, step by step!
